

Italian Carlton

School-based Activity

Web Quest 1

Using the information on the interactive map, find out about some of the different people that set up shops and businesses in the area of Carlton. Make up some game cards that include information about different Italians. You should write the information in the game cards below in Italian.

Once you have made up 5-10 game cards, you and a partner should devise a game that will teach other members of your classroom something about the Italian contribution to the area of Carlton. If you require a map for your game, the walking maps from the Carlton experience are located online at:

Using the information from the internet sites provided above you and a partner are to put together an information booklet for a group of students that are arriving from Italy and want to know about the contribution of Italians to Carlton.

The booklet should include a map and some key features and places to visit. You need to justify why you have chosen a particular place and why you think it is an important place to visit.

To help you put together this information use the theme information and the interactive map to assist with your presentation. You could design your booklet as a brochure, or a slideshow presentation or fold out DL. A template for a DL located on the CDROM can be used if required.

Italian Carlton website/CDROM

Using information from the internet sites provided above you and a partner are to write a front page newspaper story on the suburb of Carlton, Melbourne. You are to give a summary of the architecture, culture and the influence of the Italian population on the area.

This article is to be presented using ICT. You may choose to use either Word or Publisher. The article must include the key elements of a good newspaper story. They are What? When? Where? and Why?

To assist you in setting out the format of your front page story you may wish to view this resource provided by The Age and identify the key aspects of a front page newspaper story.

Another excellent resource is The Herald Sun booklet (page 41) which provides a clear outline of how to write a news story.
